Insights from Rushville State Bank's President and CEO Gregg Roegge

I always look forward to the fall, and this year maybe a little more so than usual. After a chaotic spring and summer, I am looking forward to the beautiful colors and moderate temperatures that fall brings.

Things just seem right when our farmers are harvesting corn and soybeans and we are reaping the bounty that our Lord has provided. We truly have a lot to be thankful for!

Things have been busy at Rushville State Bank! We are pleased to have added Mark Thompson to our loan staff to help you with your credit needs, and happy to announce the promotion of Hannah Spencer. Both Mark and Hannah are excellent examples of individuals that Mark Your Calendars...

Daylight Saving Time ends November 1!

Sunday, November 1st marks the end of Daylight Saving Time. Mark your calendars and remember to set your clock back by one hour when going to bed on Saturday night.

It's also an opportune time to conduct periodic checks of certain appliances, such as smoke, carbon monoxide and radon detectors. Testing and replacing batteries in these devices can be done while finding and resetting clocks throughout your home.

ATM Moving from County Market to Community Fitness Center

Our Automated Teller Machine that has been located inside the County Market grocery store will be moving to a new location soon inside the Rushville Fitness and Community Center (RFCC).

We are excited about the upcoming opening of the Rushville Fitness and Community Center and know that it will be an asset to our community for many years to come. We are also excited to be placing our ATM in this location for all RFCC members and guests to use at their convenience.

Work Less While Still Generating Your Farm's Income With The Help Of Rushville State Bank's Farm Management Services

At Rushville State Bank, we know farms, from our firsthand experience running, owning, and growing up on them, to our years of experience in managing them. Since 1890, Rushville State Bank has been an integral part of Schuyler County. That history and experience have allowed us to forge strong ties within our region's farming community.

As part of our Trust Department, Rushville State Bank offers comprehensive farm management services for landowners, including all rent options. If you're a land or farm owner looking to outsource the day-to-day management and tenant relations on one or more of your properties, look no further than Rushville State Bank.

Important Qualities in a Farm Management Service

When choosing a farm management service, it's important to find a company that can be a true partner to you throughout the process, one that has deep knowledge of the local area operators and suppliers.

Rushville State Bank is local and convenient, and we've been right here serving the agricultural community in Schuyler County for over 130 years.

We'll Learn Your Goals

Rushville State Bank's Farm Management team will meet with you to discuss your short and long-term goals for your land, income, continuity planning, communications, desired budget and cost controls, and potential for increased profits via marketing. All of these factors will go into your custom farm management plan.

How We'll Manage Your Farm

- Monthly, we review and pay your bills, report on cash management, and complete distributions according to the farm management plans. We'll also provide you with reports and records on crop yields, acreage, farm inspections, harvest results, inventory, and updated marketing plans for unsold inventory.
- Annually, we provide a complete financial analysis of your farm's performance, crop marketing plans, and tax worksheets.
- We'll even help you discuss with your tenant: agricultural decisions and consultations, lease negotiations and preparation, production management, financial management, grain marketing services, environmental considerations, and more.

Call the Trust Department at Rushville State Bank today to learn more about our comprehensive, local farm management services.

FRAUD ALERT: Gift Card Scams On The Rise

We want to make our customers aware of a number of active fraud cases involving gift cards that are being perpetrated via phone, text and email.

The way the scam works is as follows: victims receive an unsolicited message from someone stating they are with a customer service department. They may say your account is frozen and you need to purchase one or more branded gift cards and provide the claim codes over the phone in order to remove the freeze on your account. Other things they might ask for are your account password, full credit card ID or bank account number.

Companies will never ask you to provide sensitive personal information or purchase gift cards to unlock your account. If you receive such a message, disregard it and contact the Federal Trade Commission at (877) FTC-HELP if you wish to file a complaint. Visit ftc.gov/giftcards to learn more about common gift card scams.

If you ever have a question regarding a call, text message or email you have received, don't hesitate to contact a member of the Rushville State Bank team for assistance at (217) 322-3323.
